Amazing soundtrack, loved it!, January 31, 2013

By Andrea - See all my reviews

This review is from: Truth About Kerry (Original Motion Picture Soundtrack) (MP3 Music)

I bought this soundtrack a while ago, (as soon as it came out) and I instantly fell in love. Hearing the music while watching the movie is completely different than listening to the soundtrack by itself. The first few times I listened to it was while doing homework or driving and it felt completely different. Even though it is the soundtrack of a thriller/drama /mystery movie it is quite relaxing.

Incredible, February 6, 2013

By TamaraLDBrennan - See all my reviews

This review is from: Truth About Kerry (Original Motion Picture Soundtrack) (MP3 Music)

This album is a wonderful yet torturous reminder of the film. You can literally see the film in your head as the album plays. You will subconsciously hold your breath until you finally let that breath go only to find that knot that the movie left in your stomach.

The album will leave you with a heavy feeling of unresolved contentment.

Incredible creation by Ciaran! The music matches the film with pure perfection!

Evocative ambiance, March 30, 2013

Music)

Highly evocative, these 20 tracks elegantly transition into each other to create a rich experience, as if sweeping across rich landscapes, onto crashing shores, and into a misty air. By weaving exquisite vocals and traces of Celtic sounds, the music conjures mystical and chilling moments as well as a tranquil mood, while transporting the listener into the story. Beautiful.

Beautiful and haunting, February 21, 2013

By M Hanh (Los Angeles) - See all my reviews

This review is from: Truth About Kerry (Original Motion Picture Soundtrack) (MP3 Music)

This score was moody and gorgeous and fit the Irish countryside, as well as the story and themes of the film. The melodies were very modern, yet I felt they had an underlying thread connecting them to traditional Irish music. Instruments, random sounds, and voices were effectively intertwined, I really enjoyed this soundtrack.

2012 saw the long awaited digital release of the soundtrack album for the award winning feature film Truth About Kerry. Los Angeles based Irish composer Ciarán Hope worked diligently to present the thrillers delicately remixed score for fans of the genre. November 2012's CD of the month at the Irish Contemporary Music Centre, this downloadable album includes a comprehensive digital booklet with behind the scenes pictures alongside a detailed commentary on the creative process that spawned the films music.

As a bonus track, the closing title theme song Cry for the Last Time (by award-winning singer/songwriter Marina V) was given a comprehensive remix by Hope, who incorporated many of his scores orchestral elements and textures into the song.

The film follows an American girl's journey to a small Irish fishing village, in an attempt to find out what happened to her best friend who was found dead 6 months earlier on a local beach. Shot on location in Waterville, Co. Kerry, the film stars Darren Keefe, Paul Hardiman, Jessica Dean and the indomitable Stana Katic from ABC's hit show CASTLE.

"The musical score Ciarán created was exactly what I wanted" says director Katie Torpey. She continues, "He is great at composing music that evokes an emotional response to scenes with little or no dialogue and knows how to take an ordinary scene and use music to make it extraordinary". Producer Shaun O' Sullivan adds, "Ciarán has created a score of such depth and scope, it stands alone as a powerful piece of musical composition in it's own right."

The CD features a very strong Irish presence throughout, including celebrated Irish classical violinist Cora Venus Lunny (Nigel Kennedy, Damien Rice, The Donal Lunny Band, Sinéad O Connor) who collaborated with the composer to sculpt a series of beautiful and evocative melodies for the film score, as well as close friends and legendary Irish band Kíla who recorded some Irish instruments in their unique style over a few tracks to add to Hopes vision for the musical textures of the soundtrack. Last but by no means least, Hope had fifth generation Irish piper Kevin Rowsome bring the landscapes of Ireland to life, recording all of the scores glorious Uilleann pipes in a Dublin studio.

The musical score Ciaran Hope composed for our movie "Truth About Kerry" is one of those rare movie soundtracks wherein the music is so well written and performed, it stands alone as a great piece of musical work. Ciaran's challenge to capture the essence and feel of the Irish landscapes and the Thrilling and suspenseful story of Truth About Kerry was a huge success. His music transports you to Ireland and immerses you in the world of the movie completely. This soundtrack is simply a stunning piece of work. Truth About Kerry
